
Charles University European Lab

July 13th - 27th 2019 in Prague

Charles University European Lab is an intensive two-week interdisciplinary summer school on contemporary Europe for Chinese students and young professionals.

It is organized by the Charles University, one of the oldest Universities in the world, whose lecturers will provide participants with both up to date information about and state of art analysis of issues that are transforming Europe during an interactive and dynamic program. The students will learn to understand the issues like Brexit, Euro Crisis and many others from rich selection of diverse topics such as European history and culture, European Union, societal and political landscape of European countries, state and future of European economies, European-Chinese relations and law. To complement lectures with practical experience, Summer School will include rich program encompassing both social and cultural events as well as visits of government institutions and private companies, allowing participants to get the most from their stay in beautiful old city of Prague, right in the heart of Europe. All students will be awarded a certificate acknowledging their participation in the summer school.

If you are interested or have any questions, do not hesitate to contact us.

Video from the Charles University European Lab 2018

